Tickets go on sale Saturday, Jan. 18, for the Country Summer music festival running June 13-14 at the Sonoma County Fairgrounds.

The show stars Hunter Hayes, 2014 Grammy nominee for best country solo performance, and four-time Grammy nominee Joe Nichols.

The line-up also includes Darius Rucker, former lead singer for Hootie and the Blowfish, the Eli Young Band and singer-songwriter Dustin Lynch.

Country Summer is being produced by Impact Entertainment and Sonoma Media Group, the owner of Froggy 92.9 FM and other radio stations serving Sonoma County.

Local residents will get a head-start on buying tickets at 9 a.m. at the fairgrounds box office in Santa Rosa. General ticket sales start at noon.

Ticket prices for one day start at $49 for general admission and $79 for reserved seats.
